EMMANUELLA
GRACE

Speaker Bio.

Emmanuella Grace
Human Connection Expert | Speaker | Coach

In a world of bots, human connection is your greatest advantage.

Emmanuella Grace helps leaders find their voice, elevate their presence, and communicate with the clarity, confidence, and authenticity needed to build trust, influence, and impact.

A professional singer, speaker, and trainer, Emmanuella brings together decades of international performance experience on stages including the Royal Albert Hall, Barbican, and Sydney Opera House, with formal qualifications in psychology (Grad. Dip. Psych.), teaching, and music (B. Mus. Hon., M. Mus. Perf. Teach.).

Through interactive keynote experiences, Emmanuella reveals the science and skill behind human resonance, helping leaders understand how their voice, body, words, and presence shape the way they connect, influence, and inspire action.

Specialising in leadership communication for technical experts, Emmanuella helps leaders transform complex knowledge into meaningful connection, creating greater impact in a world where being understood matters more than ever.

Her work has supported leaders and professionals across organisations including PwC, Future Fund, The Florey Institure, Melbourne University and the BRAMS Institute at The University of Montreal and the Australian Open, where she has delivered keynote experiences, leadership training, and voice and body language coaching. She also co-hosts Building a Better Geek with technology leader Craig Lawton (AWS), exploring the intersection of humanity and technology.

EMMANUELLA
GRACE

Speaker Introduction.

Emmanuella Grace
Human Connection Expert | Speaker | Coach

In a world of bots, human connection is your greatest advantage.

Emmanuella Grace is a Human Connection Expert, speaker and coach who brings together the science of communication with the artistry of performance.

A professional singer with international experience on legendary stages including the Royal Albert Hall, Barbican and Sydney Opera House, she combines decades of performance expertise with formal qualifications in psychology, teaching and music.

Through highly interactive keynote experiences, Emmanuella explores the science and skill behind human resonance, showing leaders how their voice, body, words and presence shape the way they connect, communicate and inspire action.

Her work specialises in leadership communication for technical experts, translating complex knowledge into clear, confident and compelling communication that builds trust and creates impact.

Emmanuella has worked with organisations including PwC, Future Fund, The Florey Institute, the University of Melbourne, the BRAMS Institute at the University of Montreal and the Australian Open, delivering keynote experiences, leadership training, and voice and body language coaching.

She is also the co-host of Building a Better Geek with technology leader Craig Lawton (AWS), exploring what it means to bring more humanity into technology.

Please welcome Emmanuella Grace.